

Bios:

Short Bio

Carrie Classon is a speaker and nationally syndicated columnist with Andrews McMeel Universal. She champions the idea that it is never too late to reinvent oneself in unexpected and fulfilling ways. Her debut novel, Loon Point, will be released by Lake Union in February 2026.

Podcast/Interview Intro

Carrie Classon is former professional actor and recovering MBA, who champions the idea that it is never too late to reinvent our lives in unexpected and fulfilling ways. She chronicles her life in a weekly humor column called “The Postscript,” syndicated by Andrews McMeel Universal and has a new live show, “Searching for a Second Sunset,” featuring material from her writing—and lots of sequins. Her debut novel, “Loon Point,” will be released by Lake Union in February 2026.

Longer Bio

Carrie Classon is a performer and nationally syndicated columnist with Andrews McMeel Universal. She was born in Minnesota and had a 14-year career in the theater, performing in dozens of shows from Oregon to Maine. After founding and running a professional Equity theater for seven years, she got her MBA and worked in international business, crafting feasibility studies and business plans for projects from Central Asia to West Africa. She has an MFA in creative nonfiction from the University of New Mexico and has written a memoir, several plays, and more than 600 columns.

In her weekly column, “The Postscript,” Carrie writes about the transformative power of optimism and how to find the extraordinary in the ordinary. She champions the idea that it is never too late to reinvent our lives in unexpected and fulfilling ways. She performs a live show, “Searching for a Second Sunset,” featuring material from her writing—and lots of sequins.

Carrie and her husband, Peter, and former street cat, Felix, split their time between St. Paul, Minnesota, and San Miguel de Allende, Mexico. “Loon Point” is her debut novel.

Fun Facts About Carrie:

- She adopted a street cat named Felix while staying in Mexico.
- She never writes without fresh flowers on her desk.
- She compulsively buys fancy dresses from consignment shops.
- She likes the smell of skunk—from a distance.
- She always talks to dogs.